in the
FINAL CURTAIN

Sorry, but you have to wait. Mr. Carini is not well.

You have to wait, Mr. Holmes. You might not hear him at all.

Don't be too optimistic. You will listen to the violin. And you will like it.

LAST PERFORMANCE
THE GREAT
Carini

I play the violin for fun. But Carini is the best.

Are you Sergeant Flaherty? Could you come with me. Something is wrong.

Sorry, Holmes. No concert today. Will you come with me?

A VIOLINIST HIMSELF, SHERLOCK HOLMES LOOKED FORWARD TO HEARING THE GREAT CARINI IN HIS LAST PERFORMANCE ... BUT THE MAESTRO'S VERY GENIUS PROVED TO BE THE WEAPON THAT RANG DOWN THE CURTAIN EVEN BEFORE THE RENOWNED MUSICIAN TOOK THE STAGE...

The ambulance is coming. Is this man a policeman too?

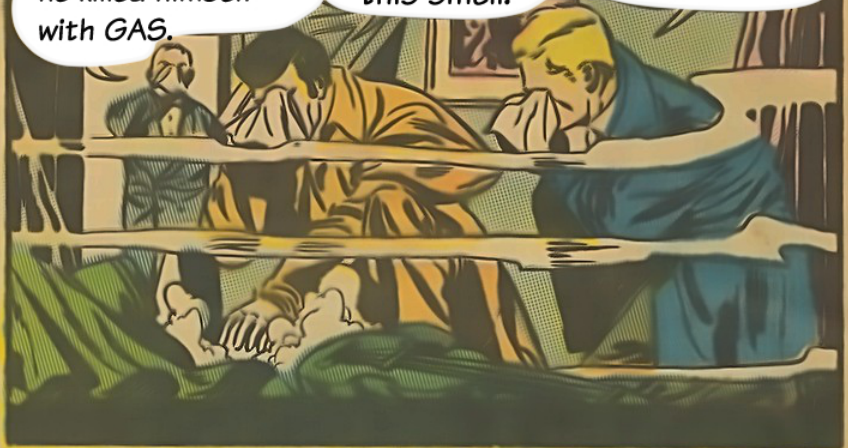

No. This is Sherlock Holmes. The famous English detective

Let's look at Carini.

He is dead. I think he killed himself with GAS.

I think I know this smell.

It smells horrible.

I think the gas was in in this. The glass is very thin.

It was some kind of cyanid gas. It is gone now.

Get your nose away. It is dangerous.

I think, Carini took his own life.

Are you sure?

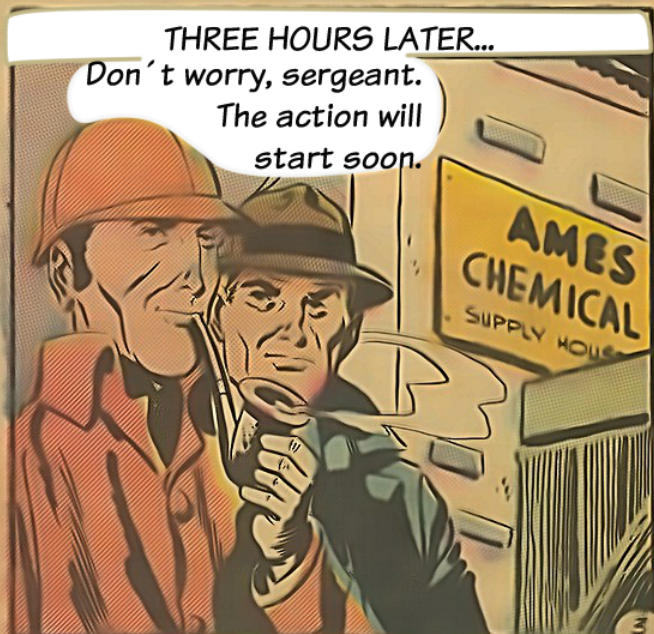

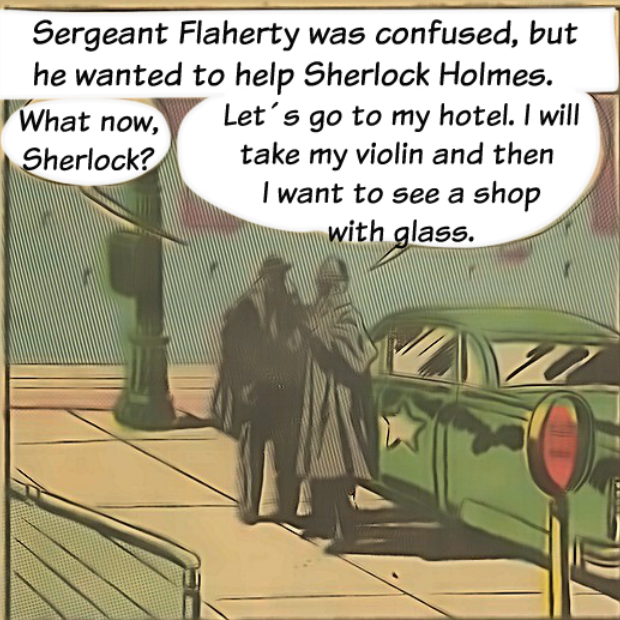

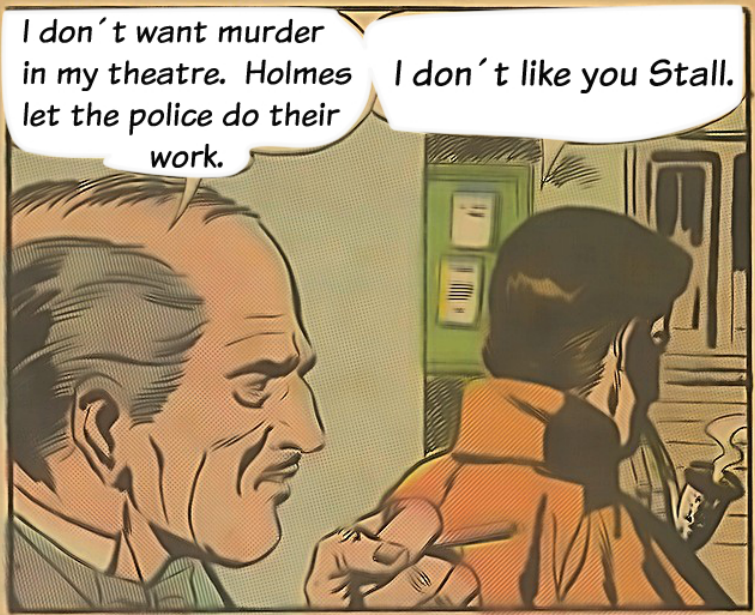

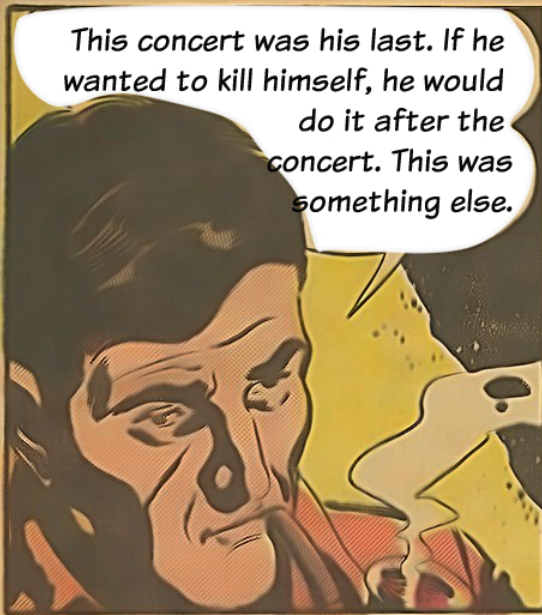

Yes, the windows are closed and the door was locked from inside.

I think it was murder.

Sherlock and Flaherty had everything they needed. But someone started to worry.

A FEW MINUTES LATER AT THE THEATRE

SHERLOCK HOLMES

I heard some noise. Are you all right?
Yes, Stall, we are fine. Could you take us to Carini's room?

Do you want to play the violin? Are you joking?

No, I am not joking, Stall. I see, there is a new door. Very good.

Flahery did not understand Sherlock's plans. But Stall was nervous and scared.

The glass is as thin as the original. Please, close the door. Now, everything is ready.

I don't have time to play. I have to work!

No, Stall! You will stay here.

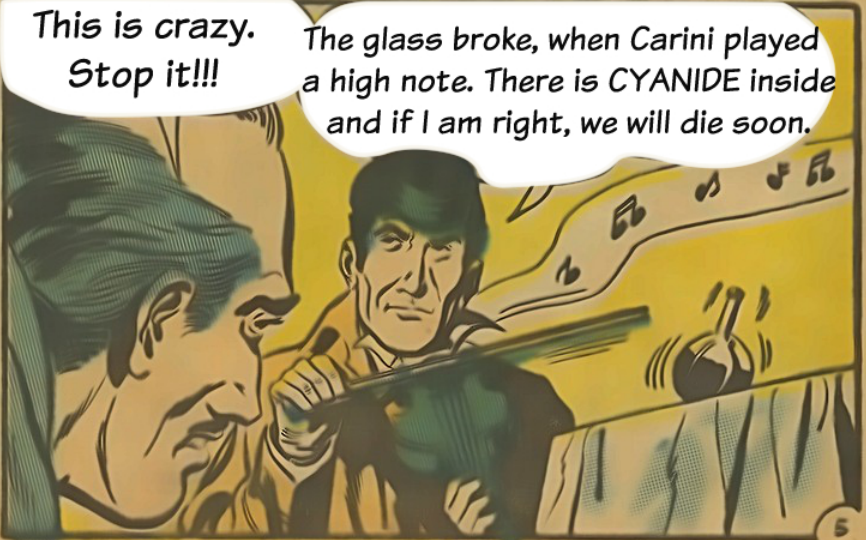

Now, I will play the same song Carini was playing when he died. Let's see what happens.

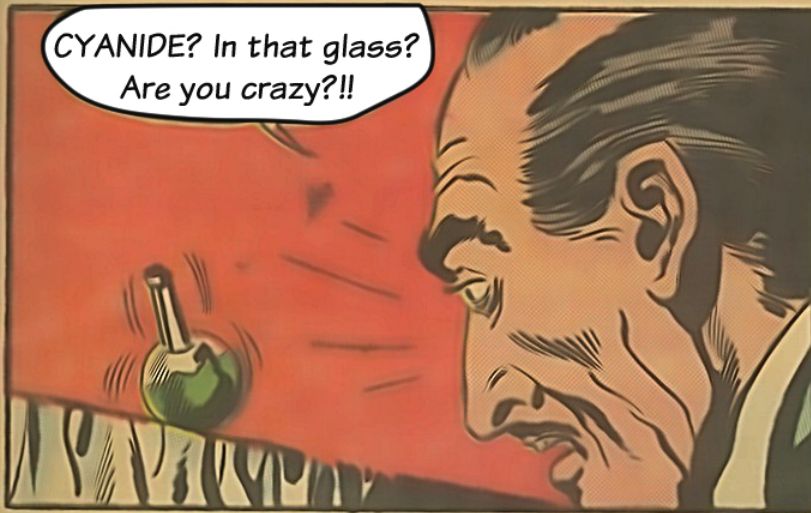

This is crazy. Stop it!!!

The glass broke, when Carini played a high note. There is CYANIDE inside and if I am right, we will die soon.
